Kindergarten moves to new home Monday

It's a four room cottage modern equipped thruout

The house at 407 N. Evergreen, owned by school district No. 25 for a number of years, has undergone a transformation during the last two weeks and will house sixty-four members of the kindergarten of the Arlington Heights school system.

The architectural changes necessary were planned by Godfrey Larsen, architect who drew the plans for the new north building, and has been arranged to give a maximum of light and cheery atmosphere to the youngsters who will be housed there.

The floor plan consists of four downstairs rooms, all of which will be used by the kindergarten. Several windows have been added to each room, window ledges for plants and displays and toys have been built. Bulletin boards, blackboards, and other accessories complete the school room needs, without detracting from the home-like atmosphere which is so essential to very small children. The rooms have been decorated in the love-liest of pastel colors and buff colored shades will be used at the windows.

Recommendations from the office of the state fire marshal pertaining to schools were followed in preparing the building against fire hazards. The doors will be so fitted that they will open easily and fire extinguishers will be readily available.

The house will be automatically heated and ventilated with forced air, and a stoker operated furnace. The children will enter the building through the southeast entrance which has been widened. Cloak shelves have been built which are both attractive and serviceable. The southeast room will be used for asel work and will have plenty of sun from its six southeast windows. This room is a lovely shade of green. The center room will be used as the shop room and is equipped with tables, manual art materials and toys. Yellow furnishes the color scheme for this room. The west room will be used for music and quiet play, and there the doll house, the small chairs and piano will be found. It is finished in a soft rose shade.

Even the kitchen has had windows added, new linoleum placed on the floor, and cupboards painted in white. This room will serve as the lunchroom, for the children's midmorning snack, and here they may work with clay to their hearts content. It is finished in a lovely rose beige shade. The lavatory is adjacent to the kitchen with the washbowl in good range of stubby legs. There is a storage space off the washroom with ample shelf room for the supplies.

Self-indirect lighting with modern fixtures, is used throughout the rooms and the woodwork has been done in white. A small drinking fountain in the center room, brings the last detail in school room equipment.

Miss Dorothy Light, a graduate of the National College of Education in Evanston, is the kindergarten teacher, and she is most enthusiastic about the new home for her family of sixty-four. Miss Light formerly taught in the schools of Antioch and Des Plaines.

The kindergarten for the past two months has been housed in the basement of the St. John's church.

Good eats are a good investment, says Lions club

Four new members were added to the roster of Arlington Heights Lions club Tuesday evening. They are Rev. Kamphelke, Frank Serbergh, Frank Campbell and Don Florence. Lt. Anthony Scolaro was able to be present. The membership of the club is now seventy-seven, proving the drawing power of good eats, says the membership chairman, who admits that the major attraction is what is placed on the table by the Lutheran ladies as much as the men who are seated around the festive board.

Anyway the club is riding high and handsome. Tickets for the annual Thanksgiving dinner are now out, the attendance at which is practically limited to the membership. There is no room for any more. The date of the dinner is Nov. 23, and the menu is turkey.

Selective service delinquents

The following men, according to Cook County Local Board No. 1, 121 North Douglas avenue, Arlington Heights, Illinois, are delinquents of that board:

Homecoming Saturday

Arlington Heights high school celebrates homecoming Friday night and Saturday. The pep meeting with its bonfire and snake dance takes place Friday evening. The freshmen boys are responsible for the fire and the pile of kindling and wood is growing larger every hour.

The annual homecoming dance, sponsored by the "A" club will be held in the school cafeteria Saturday night, starting at 8:30. Mark Webb's orchestra will furnish the music.

The homecoming game against Woodstock will start at 2:30. Previous to the game, the band will lead a parade through the business district. The twirlers and band will maneuver between halves of the game.

A loud speaker on a sound truck will tell the story of the game, giving identity of players and yards lost or gained, play by play. Tom Hildebrandt, an experienced movie operator will be on hand with his camera to make the films that will be shown November 11, 12 and 13 at Arlington Theatre. A double allowance of film has been made possible by the sponsorship of the Dad's Club and Gradye Howlette.

Previous films of Arlington games have been shown at Arlington Theatre showing a photography the equal or superior to regular news releases. Mr. Hildebrandt can be depended upon to get the best possible of the plays on his film. The Dad's club is asking for a large attendance.

Team take note: Victory would make the day complete.

Army-Navy tests at high school next Tuesday

Superintendent of Schools A. M. Conger today urged high school seniors in their last term of school and recent high school graduates to take the Army-Navy College Qualifying Test, (A-12, V-12) on November 9, 1943.

"Many young men privileged to enter the Army Specialized Training Program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Army," the Superintendent said. "Most of those accepted for the Navy College program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard. This is an excellent opportunity for every ambitious boy, regardless of financial status, to attend college in order to make his most effective contribution to the war effort."

The purpose of the test is to give in the Arlington Heights high school at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 9, is to aid the services in the selection of prospective candidates for training to become specialists, technicians and officer candidates in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. The test takes two hours and is designed to measure the aptitude and general knowledge required for success in the college programs. All questions are of the "best answer" type in which the candidate is to select the best or correct answer from several choices.

Those between 17 and 20 years of age who design to have preference and qualify in the test may be selected for the Navy College program. They serve on active duty, in uniform and under military discipline and receive the pay of the lowest enlisted grade.

Seventeen-year olds who designate Army preference and qualify in the test are offered military scholarships in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program. They receive training until the end of the term in which they reach their 18th birthday. At that time they are placed on active duty and sent to an Army installation for basic military training after which, if still qualified, they are placed in the A.S.T.P.

Those between 18 and 22 who qualify and designate Army preference are earmarked for special consideration for the A.S.T.P. after induction.

In addition to being morally and physically qualified applicants for both the Army and Navy programs must possess officer-like qualifications, including proper appearance.

Further details in regard to the test scheduled for November 9 are available at the offices of the superintendent of schools and all high school principals who have copies of the booklet, "Qualifying Test for Civilians," for distribution.

Hallowe'en party ends in disaster

Auto strikes hay rack; two receive serious injuries

A Walther League Hallowe'en party Saturday evening approached tragedy when the hay rack on which twenty members of Arlington Heights Senior Walther League were riding, was hit by a car being driven by Kenneth Carl Busse, 17 years old, 1016 N. Highland ave.

The accident occurred on Elmhurst rd. and Thayer st., in the northern part of Mt. Prospect. Busse told the police that he did not see the hayrack. Emil Curtis, driver and owner of the hayrack and team, states that his vehicle was protected by two reflectors and a lantern and that shortly before the accident two state police officers had inspected the hayrack and allowed him to proceed.

Twenty-two young people were on the wagon at the time of the accident. The impact of the car was so great that all were thrown into the air, some landing on the pavement. Unable to secure ambulances, car cushions were used as stretchers and four receiving serious injuries were taken to Northwestern hospital. They were: Lois Fricke, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Fricke; sustained injuries to her head and is still in the hospital;

Lorna Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Meyer, 209 S. Walnut, sustained shock that for a time affected her limbs, is now able to return to her work at the ration board;

The more seriously injured are: Ruth Held, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Held, 708 N. Evergreen, sustained injuries to abdomen, a broken ankle and possibly other injuries, is in Northwestern hospital.

Eugene Burger received wounds over the hip from which an infection has resulted; is at St. Frances hospital, Evanston.

Busse is said to have been seeking the hayrack crowd at the time of the accident.

OCB to begin salvage drive

Here is an opportunity for the public to help in the war effort and at the same time to promote the local division of the OCB. A committee has been appointed to conduct a scrap drive throughout Arlington Heights. The Boy Scouts will assist in the collection of scrap of all kinds, and every citizen is urged to help to cooperate.

Right now paper is needed badly. The public can help by having paper ready for pick-up on the collection day which will be announced later. Anyone who prefers may leave their paper at the village hall without waiting for collection.

The committee consists of Kenneth R. Gregory, representing the OCB, and Frank Hranek, representing the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts. Watch this paper for the announcement of the first collecting date.

Mrs. Helene Busse is Arlington Heights new village clerk. She was appointed to that position of "acting" clerk at a meeting of the village board Monday night, filling the vacancy during the position of Forrest Davis, who is now with the Seabees.

It is the first time that a woman has been appointed to fill an elective office in the village of Arlington Heights and is the first time that a vote of seven ayes has been recorded in the official minutes. In the transaction of municipal business, the trustees are the only ones who have a vote except in case of a tie. The law provides that the mayor shall appoint and the board confirm the appointments. Because of the nature of the appointment of Helene Busse as an acting officer, it was necessary to pass a resolution giving the reason for the appointment, etc. To complete the records it was thought advisable that Mayor Goedke should also have a vote on the resolution. Thus it was, ayes seven, nays none.

Municipal employees take all jobs in their stride

It may be necessary for some of the regular village employees of Arlington Heights to perform emergency work on Weller Creek in order to protect the sewage treatment plant. Due to the back-up of water the efficiency of the plant is retarded. Obstructions in the creek where it flows through the Country Club is holding back the natural flow. Letters from the village addressed to the Weller Creek drainage commissioner, have not even been brought a reply.

Removing the obstructions must be done before winter and it looks as if municipal employees will have to do the job.

Municipal building to soon have its own service flag

Wm. Meyer, Jr., village treasurer acted as clerk pro tem at the Monday session of Arlington Heights village board. Clerk Forrest Davis stopped in to say goodbye to the board members and to thank them for past considerations shown to him. The board directed that a service flag be placed in the hall, its first star representing the retiring village clerk.

The motor gas tax credited to the village for September is $646.74. Engineer Harris was directed to attend the state conference of operators of sewage treatment plants which will be held in Chicago November 17-18.

A resolution was passed asking the state highway department for permission to use $3,000 of gas tax funds to build a storm water sewer on Highland.

A plat presented by subdividers of the tract known as the Nightengale farm north of Olive st. was referred to the plan commission with the understanding that it provide for the opening of Olive st. to its full width.

It smells bad, but its a skunk of a story

Here is a story The Herald has no time to check for facts, but it is a smelly story.

Paul Taegle is a rather fastidious fellow and on coming out of his home Monday morning after Hallowe'en, his nostrils soon told him there was mischief afoot. The building commissioner first suspected a joke, but the black and white animal moved. Paul wasted no time in getting to a phone, calling the police department. Chief Skook answered.

The chief was a little hesitant and followed the casual creature at a safe distance down Vail st. but after crossing the railroad when it started for the village hall, that was adding insult to injury. "No skunk is going to skunk up the municipal building," said the chief. A well aimed shot ended the tale, but not the smell.

Editor's note: The story still smells. Could anybody have a sufficient acquaintance with one of those critters to entice it into the center of the business section, or is it all a Hallowe'en joke on the editor.

Visitor brings stories of olden days in Arlington

Fred A. Vant, 79, Emington, Ill., who was born on the present site of the Old Folks home in 1864 visited with the Chas. McElhose family and called at the Herald office Tuesday, bringing with him some echoes of olden days. Vant was a pal of James Dunton, the founder in 1854 of Dunton, the present Arlington Heights. Mr. Vant, during the Civil war, was captain of the vigilance committee, which dealt out justice to southern sympathizers.

One night somebody cut down the village flag pole; Vant telegraphed the governor who is reported to have wired back, "shoot the man on sight and I will pardon the man who does the shooting."

When the Vant family moved to Livingston county a prairie skooner was used and it took six weeks to travel the 112 miles. There was a lot of mud and few bridges.

Today brings growing accounts of the big money that Livingston county farmers are making this year with yields up to seventy bushels of corn to the acre. Many farmers will net $50 an acre, said the visitor. He says that the farmer today does not need the president or anyone else to tell him what he should do. They are smart enough to paddle their own canoe.

Arlington testing station receives state commendation

The State of Illinois has declared the Winkelman car and truck testing station in Arlington Heights, a model of efficiency for the manner in which it has been carrying out the requirements of the state law. In a letter of commendation it was pointed out that the Winkelman station was handling these tests in a thorough manner and was requiring the proper correction of defects before official stickers are issued.

The Winkelman Tire & Battery Shop operates a testing station under state license No. 73. To see the law is carried out in the proper testing of motor vehicles, state inspectors check up periodically on licensed stations. Those who do not follow the law have their licenses revoked.

Trucks are required by law to undergo tests twice a year. The testing period for the first six months of 1944 began Nov. 1 and will end Jan. 1.

'As Arlington Was' shown by pictures to be placed on display

"Children, way back 27 years ago, when your mothers and daddies were little tots, Arlington Heights did not possess paved streets. In the spring of each year there was mud and a lot of it. Automobiles could not be used the year around. Boys and girls had to wear rubbers to school in the spring and fall and to keep mud out of the school house long scrapers were placed at the entrance door. There were horse hitching posts before each store. Every tavern had its shewn to protect the horses during the time their masters were within. Scores of farmers came to town each morning with their milk which was shipped on a special milk train. A person had to climb up stairs to enter the first floor of the building now occupied by the Emerald Shop and the Bootery."

Those were the days that were brought back to the minds of the members of Arlington Heights village board Monday night, when Attorney Talt presented a set of pictures of Arlington streets taken in 1916 before the advent of paved streets. The pictures will later be placed on display in the municipal building.

Blames parents for delinquency of youth today

Audience told civilization depends on home

Dr. Frank L. Eversull, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, who spoke on "Some Musts for Our Thinking Today," at the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, stated that humanity is living in a period that is dangerous, dynamic, and dramatic. In enigmatically upon this statement, Dr. Eversull presented some of the problems that are facing every nation in the present crisis. Among them are the need for raw materials, transportation, morale, strategy, and economic ability to wage war.

In Dr. Eversull's opinion, there are several "musts" which are essential to the growth and development of a civilization which can live in peace together. We must learn how to live with other people, other races and other creeds. The problem of rebuilding must include a desire to work. Youth must be taught that hard work brings its own reward, and that the soft life is not desired, according to Dr. Eversull, who is in constant contact with young people on the campus of his University where he has ample opportunity to watch their habits of work and play.

Dr. Eversull quoted example after example of modern parents, who have expressed the desire that their children should not have to work as hard as they, which in his opinion is a sad mistake.

Parent cooperation is greatly needed in the rebuilding of the ideals and attitudes of the coming generation, stated Dr. Eversull. The problems of youth must be given paramount consideration, in mounting juvenile delinquency is mounting by leaps and bounds, and is a serious threat to the future of our nation. If youth is given enough worthwhile things to do to keep him interested, including plenty of work, the problem of delinquency will decrease. This includes parental supervision which no school, pre-school, nursery school or other outside activities can supercede.

Parents must capture the moral responsibility of their children, stated Dr. Eversull. Too much freedom must not be given children and young people. In his opinion there are far too many parents having their children cared for by other than themselves, either thru nursery schools, street running or by sending them to the movies to get them out of the way. Homes with understanding parents to guide and teach are the backbone of good living for every nation in the world and youth is not being rightfully given this influence, according to this educator and thinker.

Education also came in for a bit of criticism by Dr. Eversull, when he stated that young people today are not guided carefully enough in choosing their courses of study. He berated the lack of individual assistance that is given to school youth of today, which is so needed by them during the adolescence period of their lives. However, Dr. Eversull left a lasting impression that the first and foremost obligation for the lives of the youth of today, the citizens of tomorrow, lies in the home, where parents can do much to build these lives.

Dr. Eversull was received most enthusiastically by his audience and repercussions from his talk have been heard in many groups since, about town.

A social hour and refreshments followed the lecture.

The high school string ensemble, under the direction of Mr. D. G. Costain, furnished music before the lecture. Dr. Eversull was presented under the auspices of the Friendly class of the Presbyterian church.

Red Cross group to have ceremony on Armistice Day

The Thursday Red Cross group which meets at the field house, will stop their sewing and other work next Thursday at 11 o'clock for a brief ceremony. Mrs. Robt. Malcolm has consented to sing, after which there will be the two minutes of silence. The chairman feels that it is very fitting that women who are engaged in making the supplies needed by the men in this war should pay a bit of homage to the heroes of War No. 1.

Any person who desires to attend will be welcome.

Farmers asked to tune in Monday on WLS dinner hour

All farmers are asked to tune in next Monday on the WLS dinner hour program. The speakers will be Geo. Metzger, field secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association and O.D. Brissenden, organization director. The request has been received by the Cook County Farm Bureau and is being passed on to readers of this paper by C. A. Hughes.

Dads, Attention

I wish to urge all Dads to attend the last game that the Arlington Heights football team plays this year. It's a thrilling experience and you will get a real kick out of it. A running account of the game play by play will be given over the loud speaker, so even if you are not versed in the finer techniques of football, you will be able to follow the play as it progresses.

It is hoped to have the parents of the players there to be introduced before the grandstand. The band will play and with the cute uniformed baton twirlers will give a colorful exhibition between halves.

It's going to be a large afternoon. You owe it to yourselves and the boys (and remember they are our boys) to come out and give them your vocal and moral support and bring the wife, she will love it.

N. E. Schwartz,
President Dad's club.

Progressive spirit displayed by Sherwood

Raise own funds to improve their main streets

The Sherwood Improvement Association, a group of our newest Northwest Neighbors dug deep in their own pockets to resurface Hendrix Lane, Clarendon rd., Harvard rd., and Center st., with bituminous asphalt. In addition to paying the full cost of their own improving they made a very liberal contribution towards the cost of the Northwest Highway, leading from the Sherwood area to Arlington Park subdivision. In this they were aided by nearby neighbors, some of whom have no connection with their own progressive organization.

In a letter to the Board of Trustees, Frank S. Wood, president of the Sherwood Association, acknowledged completion and acceptance of the job and authorized the release of center st. funds deposited with the village for the purpose. Mr. Wood was very much pleased with the cooperative spirit of the people in his neighborhood and the whole hearted support of the village authorities.

The village authorities in turn demonstrated their approval of the manner in which the improvement was initiated, financed and completed by sending their street employees into the subdivision to set out 26 Elm trees along the improved roads.

President Goedke of the village beamed his satisfaction to the board at Monday night's meeting at this public spirited demonstration of self-help and expressed the hope that other outlying sections would follow suit in much the same manner in providing desirable improvements. The citizens in Sherwood are to be congratulated upon the success of their undertaking. When gasoline again becomes available, the people of the village generally are urged to drive through this community on the hill and see for themselves the fine community spirit of Sherwood.

Rev. Stephan takes charge of St. Peter Lutheran church

The Rev. L. V. Stephan of Milwaukee, who during the absence of the Rev. H. C. Fricke, Chaplain, U.S.A., will serve as supply pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church, delivered his initial sermons last Sunday and is now proceeding with his work in the congregation.

During the past year Pastor Stephan was the service pastor of the Lutheran Servicemen's Center in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Although approximately 18,000 servicemen and women visited the Lutheran Center during the past year, the church headquarters decided to close the Center since there was no camp near Milwaukee and it was only on week-ends, therefore, that an appreciable number of servicemen could attend.

After his graduation from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., in 1930, Pastor Stephan took the post graduate course at Concordia Seminary and earned the M.S.T. degree in 1931. He was then called to Zion Lutheran church, Stillwater, Oklahoma, where he served eleven years, until 1942, at which time he was called as Service Pastor to Milwaukee.

In Oklahoma Pastor Stephan saw his congregation grow from a struggling and discouraged group of fifteen souls to a self-supporting congregation. Here he also ministered to the university students attending the State College in Stillwater and formed from them one of the most active Lutheran League societies in the state. During his early years there he also studied at the State College as time would permit and won the five sons and one daughter.

Grade schools Open House Wednesday nite

Parents invited to visit regular school sessions

The public elementary schools of Arlington Heights will hold their annual open house Wednesday evening, November 10, according to the superintendent of schools, Mr. R. E. Clabaugh. The open house is being held as a part of American Education week, which is being observed throughout the country from Nov. 7 to 13.

The schools will be open from 7:30 to 10 on Wednesday evening when all teachers will be on duty and room mothers of the P.T.A. will serve as room hostesses with the teachers. Exhibits of school work will be displayed and special exhibits in health and physical education; a Patrol boy and auxiliary girl exhibit and an exhibit of the student council organization will be displayed.

The open house gives the parents in the village an excellent opportunity to visit the place where their children work so many hours of each day and a splendid opportunity to meet their teachers and other parents who are interested in the development of the citizens of tomorrow. Mr. Clabaugh also cordially invites parents to visit classrooms during national education week, and see how school work progresses in daily routine.

American Education week is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. "Education for Victory" has been chosen for the theme for the week, and its basic point program includes educating for wartime citizenship, for the peace, for work, for the air age, for health and for world understanding.

The cooperation of educators, teachers, parents and children can do much to bring to fulfillment such a splendid program. The new kindergarten home on Evergreen st., adjoining the school grounds is being completed and will also be open for inspection on Wednesday evening.

Old time dance by auxiliary firemen Saturday night

The Auxiliary Firemen of Arlington Heights are giving an old time dance in the field house Saturday evening, starting at 9 o'clock. Hahnfeldt is furnishing the music. Tickets, including the tax are 50c. The auxiliary firemen are exactly what their name implies—substitutes for the regular firemen. In order to keep their organization together they need their own funds. That is the purpose of the dance.

Schools and banks to be closed Nov. 11

All schools and banks will be closed Thursday, November 11, because of Armistice day. Due to the fact that so many firms which would be closed in normal years, are operating full time, regardless of holidays, there will be no Legion eleven o'clock ceremony at the flag pole this year. Very few of its membership would be available.

If the scouts or some other organization is going to pinch-hit for the Legion notice will appear in next week's Herald.

REV. L. V. STEPHAN

A pastor says farewell

Farewell sermon delivered by Rev. H. Fricke of St. Peter Lutheran church; also sent to Lutheran boys in service.

Lord, What Wilt Thou Have Me Do? Acts 9, 6.

My dear people, it is hard for good friends to part. It is still harder for a pastor and his people to say goodbye and separate even for a while. For the relationship between a congregation and their pastor is more than common friendship. It is a linking together of souls in service and love that seeks the eternal good of the other. There are so many intimate points where the soul of a pastor touches the soul of his people. His ministry follows them from the cradle to the grave. He shares their joys at happy occasions, the birth of their babies, the joining of lovers in marriage, the celebration of anniversaries. And he also stands by their side when they are hurt and saddened in the evil days, when sickness, weariness, and despair, when some trouble disturbs their mind, when the black shadow of death darkens the brightness of their home, and at last when they have come to their journey's end, he holds the lamp of hope as their feet touch the cold ways of death and eternity.

Yes, indeed a pastor and his people throughout the years have added so many pearls of intimate memories, which will not lose their luster to the end. Therefore, it is but natural, in view of all we have had in common for so long, that our hearts should ache a bit on this day of farewell. Such sincere sentiments are nothing to be ashamed of. They do have their place in the Christian's life. But, my dear people, pure sentiment must not be the deciding factor in a Christian's actions. The call of Christian duty must always exert the strongest pull. Paul, the apostle, felt the pull of his new Master on the road to Damascus at the time of his conversion. He asked the question, "What wilt thou have me to do?" The Lord has pressed that question upon you and me in these days of fateful decisions. And He has given us His answers so clearly, that we cannot mistake His will for us.

"Lord, what wilt thou have me as a pastor to do?" is a question I have often asked in the course of my ministry. I have asked it particularly under the stress and strain of war. I couldn't escape that question in reference to the young men and women of our congregation whom we sent with the Word and prayer to the fighting forces.

I could not avoid seeing what this war was doing to them. They came to me to say goodbye. They wrote simple sincere letters about their experiences and opened their hearts to me. They visited me during their furloughs and told me their worries and problems. I spoke with Lutheran chaplains, who were in daily touch with American boys changed into soldiers by a stiff process of training. From all this I pieced together a pretty complete picture of military life, its hardships and dangers, its temptations and tribulations. It was all too plain that their war service was a great crisis in their life, which might not only break them physically but also ruin them spiritually, set them adrift on the ocean of despair unless Lutheran ministers were willing to go to them and guide them in their hour of testing.

As I might I couldn't get rid of the picture of the Christian young men, suddenly torn from the security of home and church and thrust into the hard, dangerous life of a soldier, lonely, homesick, disturbed by worries and fears, thrown together in the melting pot of military life with all kind of people, some good and some bad, some sincere Christians as well as mocking infidels. I asked myself, "What wilt thou have me do for these precious young people in their great emergency?" As I listened to God's voice the answer came to me clearly: "Go to them and be their guide on the green pastures of my Word." Oh, I could think of many arguments of the flesh which I should not have appeared. I should not have been so easily overcome by objections to my going. I should not have been so easily overcome by objections to my going. I should not have been so easily overcome by objections to my going.

After all these plain proofs of God's will, I couldn't do otherwise than stand at attention before my supreme commander and say: "Here am I Lord, send me." My commander, my church, and my government have accepted my services and here I am preaching my last sermon for the duration, ready to report for military duty. "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" is also a question which you, my people, directed to God as you considered my request for a leave to serve as chaplain in the army. I can appreciate the conflict in your hearts as you weighed the matter, whether my services were more necessary here at the home front or with our men in the fighting fronts. But you were not asking for guidance from your own flesh and blood. You were placing your problem before the Lord and asking Him to show you your duty. And the Lord gave you His answer. He moved your hearts to see that in the far flung battle line of the Lord's army one sector of it was most urgent—the souls of our men meeting the ordeal of war. You said to yourself: "We can put up with less than we are accustomed to, but our boys must not go into battle without Lutheran chaplains to walk beside their side." And so you said to the Lord: "We give you our pastor, Lord. Take him and use him to hold our youth with Thee and with Thy church."

And now, though you have made the big decision according to the Lord's will, you will often turn to the Lord as new issues and new problems confront you and inquire of Him in prayer: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" I am confident, if you will sincerely ask the Lord for guidance in all the difficulties which may arise, that the Lord will smoothe them out for you. But be sure you are consulting with the Lord and not your own mind and feelings. When you ask the Lord how you shall treat your new pastor He will tell you in His Word to respect him for his position as a servant of God, to love him as the man who watches over your souls, to work with him in a spirit of good will, and to live and labor in peace with each other. Perhaps some of you are being moved to ask as you see me in your

Elk Grove home bureau

The Elk Grove Home Bureau met in regular session at the home of Mrs. Noel Foss on Devon ave. on Wednesday afternoon, October 27. We had four ladies as our guests.

The Major lesson for the day, given by Mrs. J. Wetterman, was Home Pressing Equipment. Each lady received several patterns for making various articles, all of which will prove invaluable in pressing clothes at home.

The minor lesson was given by Mrs. Clifford in the absence of Mrs. J. Mecklenberg, who happened to be sick that day. The lesson was a continuation of a study presented last month on hanging pictures in the home.

There will be no meeting of the bureau for the month of November as the ladies decided they would attend a meeting of a different unit this month.

The ladies will also make a tour through Arlington's greenhouse on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 1.

Friends surprise on 20th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kehe, 300 W. Fremont, were married twenty years ago today. Their friends surprised them with a celebration. The "bride and groom" had just finished their supper at 5:30 when the family walked in upon them bringing with them many good things to eat. This required a second supper on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Kehe, which they did not mind at all, especially when they were presented with a Corvet coffee maker.

The previous evening the other members of the 6-handed social club surprised them. The evening was spent at pinocle. The surprise guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Helm and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weber.

Mrs. Fayette Briggs entertained Miss Florence Sawyer of Rockford over the week-end.

pulpit for the last time for the duration: "Lord what wilt Thou have us to do for our pastor, who is leaving us today?" The Lord will give you all the answers when the time is due. But for the time being, he lays one obligation on your heart, while you send me away with your blessings and good wishes. Surely, the Lord wants you to pray for me as I undertake my new assignment. He wants you to support my ministry among our soldier sons with your prayers. It will give me inner strength to meet all trials, if I know that my people at home are backing me with their prayers.

There is much more on my heart as I speak to you on this day of parting, but I must break off now. Let us say goodbye with our heads up and a smile on our faces, confident that you and I are walking under the outstretched wings of God's love. While the fires of destruction are raging and singing so many youthful lives, God wants you and me to do our duty, you on the home front, I with your boys on the fighting front. We can sing our battle hymn with courageous spirit.

Amen.

Service work will benefit by rummage sale

Merle Guild Unit No. 208, the A.L.A. wishes to thank the Herald for the splendid cooperation given it, in making the rummage sale last Saturday so successful. They also wish to thank Mrs. Kuhlman and Miss Greenberg for the use of the store and all others who contributed and helped.

Many questions have been asked as to what is done with the proceeds of these sales. The money is used in service work for veterans in hospitals, their needy families and orphan children. After the sale, any clothing that was suitable for veterans in hospitals, was laid aside for them. Mrs. Lund, community nurse was asked to look over the goods that did not sell, to see what she could use in supplying the needy in the community. A representative from the Greek War Relief Society, then selected what could be used by them. The carpet rags, shoes, leather bags and everything remaining was sent to Elgin hospital.

Commander Joseph Wisersky appeared at the meeting on Tuesday evening to give a personal invitation to the members of the auxiliary to be present at the burning of the mortgage which will take place at Legion hall on the Saturday evening following Armistice day. This column has been offering suggestions during the past few weeks for the comfort of sick persons in the home and procedures which the home nurse might apply to aid in the recovery of the patient, and to protect other members of the family from becoming ill.

When the entire family maintains reasonable personal health standards it naturally follows that community health will also be improved, but it must be remembered that individuals and the community have joint responsibility for personal and public health.

There are many safeguards employed by the community which affect individual and family health. Many of these are taken for granted, such as safe milk and public supplies, proper sewage disposal, conveniences as drinking fountains and toilets in public places, swimming pools, requirements that eating places must meet certain standards of sanitation, quarantine when a communicable disease is present, and removal of public nuisances. All of these are measures which the community uses to assist in maintaining good health of its citizens. Too frequently, we accept them without giving much thought as to what contribution the individual can make to the total community health picture.

There are several tests and immunizations which the individual families should have done for their own welfare as well as public health maintenance. For instance, the tuberculin test is a simple skin test to tell whether a person has been in close or recent contact with tuberculosis. With this knowledge, suitable steps can be taken to remove the source of infection and secure medical care in time to prevent a great deal of damage. Immunization against diphtheria and vaccination against smallpox have proved to be of tremendous value in reducing illness from these diseases.

Unfortunately, as soon as a disease becomes somewhat rare, many people tend to grow careless about protective measures. Precautions, therefore, must never be relaxed. It is the duty of the family to see that all of its members do their share in personal and public health protection.

World war II veteran joins Legion post

Melvin J. Moehling, age 21, Kirchhoff rd., Arlington Heights, recently honorably discharged from the Army, was admitted to membership in Merle Guild Post, No. 208, at the Post meeting last week. He is the first veteran of World War II to join the local Legion Post. Several other discharged veterans of this war are preparing to follow his example.

The Post reluctantly decided to abandon plans for the traditional Armistice Day ceremonies at the village flag pole, due to the inability of enough Legionnaires to absent themselves from work on that day. This same condition prevails throughout the entire country.

Plans were completed for the annual Armistice party, to be held Saturday evening, November 13, at the Legion Home. The party will take on added significance with the burning of the mortgage. A special committee, headed by Past Commander Rippey, has arranged a novel program for the mortgage burning. All the Village officials have been invited to attend. All Legion members are urged to come out that evening and enjoy a good time.

Traveler's tales

by C. W. LUSSMAN
of Sieburg Pharmacy

Even in war time civilians must travel and always they bring back tales of discomfort, food shortages, delayed meals and of excessive crowding.

All of these things drain away energy but it can be restored quickly, efficiently and economically. The use of vitamins by travelers is becoming widespread as people understand this simple method of maintaining a balanced diet.

A sandwich, a thermos bottle, a little fruit, a selected vitamin capsule will tide you over an uncomfortable trip and bring you to your destination in good order.

Seek a doctor's advice in your selection of vitamins. Or save his time by consulting a trusted druggist. He will explain to you the advantages of vitamins of fine quality.

HERE'S HOW GAS SPEEDS THE PRODUCTION OF THESE DEADLY BOMBS

Just as GAS provides instant, accurate heat for working in your home, so it does for cooking bombs in the great war plants of Northern Illinois.

Into huge, accurately controlled GAS furnaces go the heavy bomb casings. There the fast, uniform GAS heat conditions and hardens them properly for the part they are to play in our fight for freedom. GAS is also used to heat the bomb casings prior to forging.

Maintaining a constant flow of GAS for the production of bombs and hundreds of other implements of war is our assignment from Uncle Sam . . . and we are giving it our best.

In this gas-fired furnace, the bomb casings are brought to the exact temperature required for hardening and toughening the metal.

Gas has gone to war—don't waste it.

Dessert bridge to open
Xmas stocking drive

The Arlington Heights Unit of Bundles for America will launch its Christmas stocking drive at a dessert bridge on Wednesday afternoon, November 10, at 1:30 o'clock at the field house.

Mrs. Carl John is general chairman, Mrs. Forrest, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. Schockmell and Mrs. Orth hostesses for the day. The committee have arranged lovely door and table prizes for the affair.

The Bundles launched its third Christmas stocking drive at a fashion show at Marshall Field's last week, when Florence Bourke Ellis gave a talk on the campaign, and reviewed a humorous book. Among the guests were high ranking officers from the army and the navy.

The Christmas stockings are made of red tartan, and are designed for amusement, rather than practicability.

Plans have been made to display the stockings in the windows of the new headquarters on North Michigan ave. The filling of Christmas stockings for boys in the service is the original project of the Bundles organization and was instigated immediately after Pearl Harbor.

The quota for the midwest area is 60,000 stockings, which means $60,000 must be raised.

It is hoped that all in the community will patronize the card party, the proceeds all going for this project. Tickets are now on sale at 55c each, and may be purchased from any member of the organization or by calling the members of the committee on arrangements.

The Woman's Society of the Arlington Heights Methodist church will meet Tuesday evening in the church parlors when Dr. B. T. Best will be the speaker for the evening. Dr. Best will give a history of Arlington Heights, telling of the pioneer days of our village.

The Woman's Society of the Methodist church is sponsoring a movie for the evenings of Nov. 17-18-19, when the top ranking films will be shown at the local theatre. They are "Stormy Weather" starring Katherine Dunham, dancer, Lena Horn, Bill Robinson and "Fat" Walker and "Cab" Calloway's negro orchestra, and "Constant Nymph" starring Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine, and Alexis Smith.

"Stormy Weather" stars an all colored cast and presents the career of the famous tap dancer, Bill Robinson. It also introduces enroute, contributions of negro bands, singers and dancers to swing tradition. It is spritely, colorful, appealing mostly to those interested in swing music. It is recommended by the Christian Century as good entertainment for adults and young people.

"Constant Nymph" is a drama, depicting the life of a musician, wedded to a materially minded wife, saved from stagnation by adoration and understanding from a delicate adolescent girl. It is sentimental in conception, but effectively interpreted. It is recommended by the Christian Century as good entertainment for adults.

Tickets are in the hands of all members of the Woman's society at regular theatre prices, or may be had by calling Mrs. Arthur Ashcraft, tel. 366-W.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Carse and family of North Dunton, Ill., are moving soon to Mansfield, Ohio, where Mr. Carse has been transferred.

Mrs. William Miles had the misfortune to fall recently, injuring her leg, and is confined to bed.

Mrs. D. R. Rippey was hostess to her bridge club for dessert and cards on Wednesday of last week.

The Parent-Teacher association is again this year sponsoring a Book Fair and Review. The event has been planned for Friday, December 3, at 8 p. m. in the North School auditorium, and will give parents an opportunity to choose the best in books for their children's Christmas.

A program of music will be presented and Miss Olive Flaherty will review many outstanding children's books. On display and for sale before and after the program will be eight or nine hundred books for pre-school, grade and high school students. This year there will also be a large group of adult books, best sellers in the fiction and non-fiction groups and other good books of the 1943 lists.

The P.T.A. will receive 20 per cent commission on all books sold. They hope to earn enough money through this project to finance the association's activities for the year, and at the same time present to the community a program of educational and social value.

Any book may be ordered through this project and those having already chosen a book list for Christmas giving, may aid the association by calling Mrs. Warren Fellingham and placing an order or by filling and returning the coupon sent home with each school child. They assure delivery before Christmas. The project met with great enthusiasm last year from the children as well as adults and it is expected that the Fair will be even better patronized this year.

Miss Ida B. Swail, publishers representative will conduct the Fair. Tickets for the fair are 35c each which includes refreshments which will be served at the close of the program.

Ellis review of 'Under cover' for Infant Welfare

Florence Bourke Ellis, probably the best known, and most popular reviewer of books in the entire middle west, will present a review in Arlington Heights on next Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ellis has chosen to review that new book by John Roy Carlson, entitled "Under Cover." The book was first published in June, and is now in its ninth printing, having rapidly risen to the top of the list of best sellers. It is a study of the Nazi underground in America, uncovering of subversive activities here, planned by axis agents to destroy America. It is a book that every American should read and Mrs. Ellis in her inimitable manner will bring to her audience startling facts disclosed in this book. This review is one that should appeal to the menfolk of the village as well as women, and a good crowd is anticipated.

The review is under the auspices of the Junior Woman's club and will be held in the Arlington Heights field house on Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the review. Tickets are now on sale at 55c, and may be purchased from any club member, or by calling the following numbers, 1352-M, 448, 1886-R, 643-R.

The club is sponsoring this review for the benefit of the infant welfare department of Arlington Heights.

JEWEL - THE FRIENDLIEST STORE IN TOWN

Our Forefathers Started the Fight for Freedom- Let's Finish It Now by Helping the Farmers!

OUR ANCESTORS came to this country many years ago for freedom. They fought for it in order to make America a peaceful country that was thriving and prosperous. They cut down trees and tilled the soil to give to the growing nation food — the backbone of all countries. And so America grew from the Atlantic to the shores of the Pacific. But still food remained the lifeline and generations of farmers have supplied this vast territory with all the necessary food products to keep the population healthy and thriving. The farmers have done a full-time job, and we Americans are proud of you. But today you are called upon to do an even bigger job than feeding the nation. We are at war fighting another battle for Freedom, and you farmers have been drafted to feed the boys in service, our allies and the civilians of America. You have a tough full-time job but we are all behind you ready to help you fight for Freedom.

The farmers shoulder the hoe to provide for the soldiers to shoulder the guns. Everyone is counting on the farmers for food, and American food will win this war. American food goes into every battle to help us get closer to the day of victory. We must all get behind the farmer and aid him in his job, because he in turn is helping us no matter what our work might be. His manpower is short and his equipment is scarce. His hours are long and tedious, but he must not give up the job. The goal set by the Food for Freedom Program will cover the needs for everyone and the farmers will see to that. A way to simplify this demand would be to form a co-op and the farmer would find it easy to get what he needs by going to the headquarters. In this way everyone helps the other fellow when he needs it. Meet your goal for '43 and win the war.

tending the Navy's Motor Machinists School at the University of Illinois at Urbana, Ill.

His address is F 3/C Frederick W. Biermann, Co. A, Section 1, Naval Training School (Diesel), University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Great Lakes

William F. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Weber, Arlington Heights, graduated from Arlington Heights high school, class of '41. He also attended Knox College for two years before he entered the Navy July 15.

During his boot training Bill was given a Petty Officer 1st class rating. He was selected through aptitude tests to attend service school for quartermaster and has been attending service school for the past five weeks.

His address is William F. Weber O-10-2, Barracks 607 UP, Service School, Great Lakes.

Pacific

Believed to be somewhere in the central Pacific is Silas Trepus of Palatine. His parents hope to know his exact whereabouts in the near future.

"You have asked several times about my 'boat ride' over. Well, it was pretty jerky for the first two days then it was almost like standing still. I was pretty well shaken up, too, there for awhile, but I never minded the shaking if I went to the deck to get fresh air. I slept on deck for two nights right along side of the railing.

"After I arrived across I received a letter from you asking if I had an enjoyable week-end in Los Angeles, if you only knew the real story at the time. My bunk was in the hole of the ship and boy was it hot down there.

"I went to church yesterday and it turned out to be a G. I. church that was held out under the trees. I enjoyed it though because the chaplain was really swell.

"I am getting a pass tomorrow and am going up into the mountains to see the thick vegetation that is so well known all over. If it is as wild as people say, I can pick bananas there. That is my weak spot. There is supposed to be a banyan forest up there. The rain falls every day keeping the vegetation at its highest degree of health."

His address is Private Silas H. Trepus 36644907, APO 6, c/o PM, San Francisco, California.

California

Dick was home on a thirty day medical furlough which was extended ten days to allow him to become acquainted with his young son, Terry. His wife and baby will remain with her parents until Dick may receive some appointment which would permit having his family with him.

Home on furlough from Ft. Baker, California, is Staff Sergeant Wallace Volz of Arlington Heights. Sgt. Volz is stationed at the Ft. Baker hospital.

Florida

Paul E. Wulbecker, 22, son of Mr. Otto H. Wulbecker of 1256 N. Chestnut st., Arlington Heights, was recently appointed a Naval Aviation Cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Fla., for intermediate flight training.

Upon completion of the intensive course at the "Annapolis of the Air" Camp Wulbecker will receive his Navy "Wings of Gold" with the designation of Naval Aviator, and will be commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve or a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Carl Huter of Palatine writes this week from Miami Beach, Florida.

"Receiving the Enterprise each week sure helps to let us know where all the fellows from Palatine are. Just recently got in touch with Ralph Roegner, after seeing his letter in the Enterprise a few weeks ago.

"We've been on the range nearly every day for the past two weeks firing every gun from the .30 calibre rifle to the 155mm gun and if we would have been shooting at Japs there would have been a lot of dead ones.

"We have some real men in our outfit, all with at least two years of service and I wouldn't want to miss going overseas with them. We all understand each other and work together like a team and that's what you need when you're fighting rats like Hitler and Tojo."

His address is Cpl. Carl Huter, Battery C 53rd CA Miami Beach, Fla., ASN 36305853.

Virginia

Now in the Seabees at Camp Peary, Virginia, is Edward Ginsberg of Palatine. His address is Edw. A. Ginsberg S 2/C, Commissary Dept., Area 1 & 2, Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Virginia.

Writing from Norfolk, Virginia, armed guard school this week is Clarence Wandersee of Arlington Heights.

"Have been receiving your paper of my home town through my folks. It comes in handy down here when you can read about your neighbors. I used to have plenty of good times when I was home. I hope they all stick together in Arlington and really keep up their good work as they always did in the past years. I can't write much about this place because it's only a hole in the woods anyhow."

His address is Clarence I. Wandersee S 2/C Gun Crew 2092-A, Armed Guard School, Norfolk (11) Virginia.

Ireland

Writing from Ireland this week is Lt. Duke Kopplin of Arlington Heights.

"Thought you might like to know that I have made another change in station. Right now I'm in a hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation. It came on me all of a sudden, so they just decided to snip it out. I hope to be up and around again in a week or so."

Great Lakes

Starting yeoman school at Great Lakes Monday was Robert Kehe of Arlington Heights. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kehe. He entered the navy in July of this year, and just recently completed boot training. Yeoman school extends over a sixteen week period at Great Lakes.

Tell us -- we'll tell them

With Uncle Sam last week received its second thousandth letter from local servicemen. That week also established a record with over 70 stories in one issue.

With Uncle Sam was born August 14, 1942, and contained ten stories in that first issue. At the present time the column averages forty letters per week, with 927 individuals writing 2,054 letters to the editors.

However, our job is still incomplete. Estimates place the number of servicemen in Paddock Publications territory at well over 1,500. There are still 573 men who have not written us, telling of their experiences, promotions and furloughs.

Favorable comments continue to pour in from both civilians and servicemen, but the editors will not feel they are doing a top notch job until 60 letters reach their desks each week.

How about it, you servicemen? Get out those pens and pencils and drop us a line. The folks at home and your buddies in service want to know where you're stationed, what you're doing, and how you like it.

Tell us, and we'll tell them.

Fiji

Believed to be in the Fiji islands is Harlow Smith of Palatine. Harlow originally shipped to the Fijis, but was later transferred to New Hebrides islands. He is believed to be back again in the Fijis at the present time.

"It's been a long time since I have written you. However, I would like you to know I am still receiving the Palatine Enterprise, for which I would like to express my appreciation to the Legion and the Woman's Auxiliary, who are doing so much for us boys overseas."

"The first thing I read is the article 'With Uncle Sam,' and read where the boys are and a little of what they are doing. I'd like to say 'hello' to Cliff Haenker and Russ Golden. They are doing a fine job over there and we will have some swell times telling each other of our experiences."

"I suppose it won't be long before the snow will start covering the ground there in Palatine and boy, do I wish I was there to see some of it, and also Palatine itself. I think this is the proper place for the saying 'There's no place like home,' and I mean that sincerely."

His address is Cpl. Harlow H. Smith ASN 36012742, APO 37 c/o PM San Francisco, Calif.

New Zealand

Sending a communique this week from New Zealand is Heinz Rotzoll of Arlington Heights.

"Since our quiet rest, we are now in action again. I thought I'd send my address so that the Herald could reach me sooner."

"We thought that after our last 'Blitz' that we would come home but only our sick boys and those unfit for tropical duty did so. After this campaign I think we'll be on our way home."

"At this rate some day (soon I hope) we'll be in Tokyo. Anyway I hope we'll get in on it when we land on that last island—Japan."

"Today another fellow and myself just came back out of the jungles. We were getting our supply of Popayas. Popayas are fruits. They are about the size of a muskmelon and the color inside is the same. The only difference is that they grow on trees instead of vines. They are very tasty and nourishing."

"Am still working as an aircraft mechanic. We handle the power plants of our fighters and bombers. The work gets more interesting as we get newer and bigger ships."

Michigan

Carl M. Behrens, Jr., Arlington Heights, has been commissioned second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He is now stationed with the 3rd Ferrying group, Ferrying Division, Air Transport Command, at Romulus Army Air Field, Michigan.

Lieutenant Behrens, a former Arlington Heights high school football, basketball and track athlete, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Behrens, 545 Bristol Lane. In civilian life he was a pilot.

Alabama

Pvt. Henry Lloyd Kelm of Wheeling arrived home Thursday evening, having a medical discharge. Pvt. Kelm has been training at Fort McClellan, Ala., since his induction in June. His parents were continuing his garage business but were at the point of closing shop before the winter months. His return will insure their efficient service for motorists for the time it's most needed.

Hawaii

Word reaching Arlington Heights this week indicated that Jack Hanon had arrived in Hawaii for further training. Jack just recently completed boot training at Great Lakes.

Arkansas

Max Nisle of Elk Grove writes this week from Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

"Finally getting used to this damp and cold weather out here. I am assigned to a maintenance group of the mechanized cavalry. There is plenty for us to do as something is always getting out of kilter and we are the ones to fix it."

"One good thing about a mechanized unit, we can always tell what's wrong with the machines. If we had horses it would be hard for horses don't talk much and you can't know their feelings. This training I am getting will come in handy when this war's over."

"Wonder if many of the folks back home have wondered about the difference between a jeep and a peep. I wondered, too, until I came here when I inquired I was told that, 'It doesn't matter what you call them, just so they run on four wheels.' Both vehicles are the same, depending on what outfit you are with."

Keep that Herald coming to me.

His address is Pvt. Max Nisle, 16067734, Hq. Serv. Trp. 23rd Cav., RCN Sq. Mech., APO 412 Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

Africa

Writing from Africa this week is Louis Sadecky of Arlington Heights.

"Wish I was back home again where I would know what I was drinking. Had some cognac tonight that I swear had either gasoline or paint remover in it. All the boys say 'very old' and 'liqueur digestible.' If you have a cast iron stomach it's digestible. You don't know you're getting tight here until suddenly you're on your back."

"Hope to hear from some of the folks at home. Will write again soon. Wish we were getting paid by the hour."

His address is Sgt. Louis Sadecky, 36359358 APO 763, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Washington D. C.

Lieut. L. D. Dibble of Mt. Prospect, who was inducted into the Navy last Tuesday, left to report for duty in Washington, D. C. on Saturday. He is a legal advisor assigned to the Medical Research Council of the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

He is one of the few men in this community, who through previous training and experience, is fitted for this particular work. This council is working on the new drug penicillin, also blood plasma, anti-malarials and other pharmaceutical formulas.

Lieut. Dibble, at present, will make his home with his sister in Washington.

So. Pacific

From somewhere in the South Pacific writes Edward Doyle of Arlington Heights.

"We're having another heavy rainstorm today and it has washed out all of the bridges we built since we landed here. Doesn't matter how high you build them, they all wash out eventually. One bridge washed out twice within a week, so you can see what kind of rains we have here. As soon as I can get through with a jeep I have to fix a telephone wire."

"The days are rolling along fast and it will soon be Christmas. Wish I could be home for the holidays, but there isn't much chance."

His address is Cpl. Edward Doyle 36359354 APO 928, c/o PM, San Francisco.

Chicago

Home for eight days is Augie Penkava of Palatine. Augie has been training at Lake Forest college, and just last week was transferred to the University of Chicago.

Indiana

Home on furlough from studies at Notre Dame university is Rollin Busse. Rollin's home is located just south of Des Plaines. He is spending most of his 12 days in and around home.

Rollin entered the service July 1 as part of the Navy V-12 program. He had already completed 1 year of college at Valparaiso, and was immediately sent to Notre Dame to continue his studies in engineering. He graduated from Arlington high school in 1942.

Rollin stated that college life is about the same in wartime as before, except you study a bit harder and have less time on your hands. Lights go out at 10 p. m., while in the "old days" a student never got to his books until 10 or after. (Ye ed never got to his until 12, and quit by 1).

Busse lives in one of the many dormitories at Notre Dame, with about 1400 other trainees. There are also about 500 marines studying at the university. Servicemen are in the same classes with the civilians, though they room in true navy fashion. Dormitory rooms consist of two desks, two beds, two chairs, blinds, two bureaus, and one roommate. No pictures allowed on the wall, Esquire or otherwise.

Also at Notre Dame in the V-12 program is Jack Moody of Arlington Heights.

Bank nets $20

Traveling bank at Arlington Heights last week netted George Mayer $20, bringing the grand total to $1,776. This week Kenneth Koelling is the driver of the traveling paycar.

India

Now stationed in India are the four boys pictured here. They are Pvt. Henry Hajek of Palatine, Pvt. Eddie Piepenbrink of Mt. Prospect, Robert Sperry of Roselle, and Harold Dobbins of Arlington Heights. All four boys are stationed in the same barracks.

Scott Field

James Callow of Bensenville sends a communique from Scott Field, Ill. "Have been receiving the Register now for six weeks and enjoy it. It's a big help in keeping in contact with the other boys in service."

His address is Pfc. James J. Callow, 36751064 34 TSS Bks 731, Scott Field, Ill.

Farmers get OPA ration report forms

In order to assist farmers in sending OPA the ration points they collect from the sale of rationed foods, local War Price & Rationing Boards are mailing direct to farmers in their areas the necessary reporting form, addressed envelopes and complete instructions regarding the collection of ration stamps.

Farmers who either sell or transfer rationed foods, such as fresh or smoked meat, all types of sausage, lard, butter and cheese, are required to collect ration points from purchasers. The number of points they should collect for these foods is listed for the particular item on the official table of point values for rationed meats, fats, and dairy products. This table is available at both the County War Board and the local War Price and Rationing Board.

The full cooperation of farmers is essential for the success of the food rationing programs. Under these programs the main responsibility of farmers is simply this:

1. Farmers who sell or transfer rationed meats, fats, and dairy products are required to collect the number of ration points listed on the table of point values for the item.

2. They are required to turn over to their local OPA Rationing Board all ration points received from the sale of rationed foods. These points are to be surrendered with the report for the month in which the sales were made. This report must be filed not later than 15 days following that month.

3. Farmers who deal in these rationed foods must also register with their local rationing board.

Those farmers who have not reported to OPA, since they have not sold rationed meats or fats up to this time, may not receive the reporting form and instructions by mail. The form may be obtained, however, at any local board. It is not necessary for the farmer to go to his local board to register. When he files his first report, and submits ration stamps for sales of rationed foods during the previous month, he automatically becomes registered.

Seek U.S. aid for equal education to all

Low incomes in South prevent satisfactory opportunities to youth

Pending in the Senate at the present time is a bill officially known as S. 637 which has for its purpose, the authorization of funds out of the Federal Treasury to assist States and Territories in more adequate financing their systems of public education during emergency and in reducing the inequalities of educational opportunity through public elementary and secondary schools. It has, however, become popularly known as the teachers pay-aid bill.

The bill contains two basic provisions. (1) It would authorize $200,000,000 in Federal funds to be divided among the states on the basis of active school population in the elementary and secondary schools to be used in increasing the salaries of teachers. The states would be required to pay the same salaries that were in effect on February 1, 1943, and the $200,000,000 would be used to increase such salaries. (2) The sum of $100,000,000 would be used to equalize the amounts spent on education in the various states by distributing this amount on a formula basis. That is to say that in states where the amount spent by the state per child is smaller than in other states, such states would receive larger amounts per capita out of this fund. On this basis, there are 13 states which would receive $58,000,000 of the $100,000,000.

Some background

In the year 1940, the average weekly wage of teachers in Mississippi was $10.75 compared with $32.69 in Illinois, and $50.08 in New York. Generally speaking, teachers salaries in southern and some western states are low, in central and northern states much higher. Secondly, there are 8 states, mostly in the south which expend less than $50 per year per pupil on education as against 15 states which spend more than $100 per pupil. Now look at the length of the school term. For the nation as a whole the average is 174½ days per year. In Mississippi it was only 146 days. Now look at enrollment. Mississippi reports that in 1940, only 292 out of every 1,000 persons between the ages of 14 and 17 were enrolled in high school. In the State of Washington, it was 952.

There is a general desire to correct the condition by improving teachers salaries, increasing schools and school facilities and increasing the per-pupil expenditure for education but the question is how shall it be done when the real problem exists in those states where the per capita income and public funds are limited. The obvious answer was to ask the Federal Government for help and thus the aid-to-education bill found its way before Congress where it is now being considered.

Chinese

The repeal of the Chinese Exclusion Act passed the House by an overwhelming majority. The passage of this measure will, however, permit only 105 Chinese to enter this country yearly. The reason for this small number is that the removal of the exclusion clause places the Chinese in the same position as other nations as regards immigration and their entry into this country must be in accordance with the "quota" law enacted many years ago. Under that law only 150,000 immigrants from all countries are admitted yearly. The number that may come from any one country must be in the same ratio to the total number as that country's nationals in the United States in 1920 bears to the total population of this country in that year.

Coal

There will be no coupon rationing of coal during the coming winter, according to OPA. Deliveries are being curtailed so as to spread supplies as evenly as possible. The coal shortage is primarily in anthracite, the Solid Fuels Administration for War reports, and anthracite users are urged to supplement hard coal with bituminous coal. Copies of "Supplementing Anthracite with Other Fuels for Home Heating" (Information Circular 7260) may be obtained without charge by writing to the Division of Information, Solid Fuels Administration, Interior Department, Washington 25, D. C.

Anti-freeze

To protect motorists and truck operators, the War Production Board last Saturday halted all sales of an estimated half-million gallons of destructive anti-freeze. WPB warned motorists who already have filled their radiators with any of the banned products to drain and flush the cooling system immediately and refill with the alcohol or ethylene glycol type. Harmful types are those compounded with inorganic salts, including calcium, magnesium or sodium chloride and petroleum distillates. Trade names of the products whose sales were halted are: All-Winter, Chem-A-Cool, Frozone, Permazone, Wonder-Solv, Lo-Zone, Alcotex, Ever-Flo, Bird Antarctic, Flexo, Gold Seal, Security, Arctic, Neva-Freeze, Anti-Frost, Bond (top line), Fre-Zex, No-Freezer, 60-Below, Lo-Temp, Never-Freezer, and No-Boil.

New photos

Things to come—Power lawnmowers using "needle bearings" for smooth operation, designed and now used for ammunition hoists and bombers... An X-ray photo unit which operates so fast, by use of electronics, that it can take two separate photos of a bullet in flight, in an elapsed time of a millionth of a second... A victory model made from wood instead of metal, and good until 1957.

Aviation gas

Production of 100 octane gasoline needed for war operations is now four times greater than in the early months of 1942 and within a few months will be eight times greater, according to the Petroleum Administration for War. To get the 100-octane gasoline required for military operations it is necessary to produce less of the products needed by civilians such as ordinary gasoline and fuel oil.

Soldiers' dinners

Army men and women will have a traditional dinner November 25, the War Department says. On the menu are: fruit cup, roast turkey with dressing and gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, corn, tomato and lettuce salad, celery, pickles, pumpkin pie, apples, grapes, candy, nuts, and coffee. Personnel overseas will be served this menu so far as operating conditions will permit.

72,000 women

Bits O' Business—General Electric Co. and affiliates now employ 72,000 women, who are 38 percent of the total employees... Savings of $2,700,000 thru elimination of duplicate facilities, etc., will result from the merger of Western Union and Postal Telegraph, the former has estimated. Railroads handle in and out of Army and Navy camps nearly 10,000 cars of supplies daily.

Codfish cakes

Things to come—Newsprint made from de-inked newsprint. Quick-frozen codfish cakes... Machinery for evaporating fowl by mechanical means... Luggage material made from blotting paper impregnated with synthetic rubber... Apparatus for stimulating plant growth by artificial light.

Starvation

On November 4, hearings commenced on a Senate and a House resolution designed for the relief of the starving civilian populations of Nazi infested European nations. One of the first witnesses to be called will be former President Herbert Hoover, whose administration of Belgian relief was one of the outstanding accomplishments of the Wilson Administration during World War No. 1. Another important witness will be Dr. Howard E. Kershner, who was in charge of the successful feeding of 100,000 starving French children during the last two winters. Senator Gillette of Iowa revealed that there is a prospect of getting surplus grain from the United States and Canada, together with fats and milk from South America to be paid for with Norwegian, Belgian, Dutch and French funds in this country and to be transported in idle Swedish ships to the millions of starving children in the small European nations under Nazi control.

Alcohol

Production of industrial alcohol, a "must" product urgently needed for the manufacture of smokeless gunpowder, synthetic rubber and innumerable other vital war products has expanded at such a fast rate that output by June will be five times that of a year ago, according to an official of Schenley Distillers Corp. He disclosed that production by the end of the next eight months will exceed 500,000,000 gallons annually. Half of the tremendous quantity, he said, is being produced by whiskey distilleries of the nation which converted equipment to make industrial alcohol exclusively to smash a victory-threatening bottleneck.

Tires

Rubber Realities—A card holder who have been looking hopefully toward the day when they can re-shoe old Betsy with new synthetic tires must curb their impatience "until mid-1944, at least," according to George W. Vaught, vice-president of the B. F. Goodrich company. Although there is now plenty of synthetic rubber pouring from the government's $750,000,000 worth of GR-S plants, the building of large military tires, especially those for airplanes, takes so many more man-hours and machine-hours that the industry will be hard put to exceed the goal of 30,000,000 "essential" civilian tires needed in 1944. Vaught reported in a speech at Dallas. As an example, he pointed out that the same personnel and equipment can turn out 40 of the 8.25 by 20 civilian tires in the same time that only six and one-half of the 56-inch airplane tires can be made. Even the mid-year date is "just an estimate, and by no means a promise," he added, so you'd better keep babying the tires you have.

Coffee

"Coffee supplies in the U. S. should remain ample for the duration," according to George C. Thierbach, president of the National Coffee Association. Imports into the U. S. this year were in excess of any pre-war year except 1941. Recently Chester Bowles, General Manager of OPA, said "There is not the slightest idea of rationing coffee again." Coffee stamps in Ration Book Four were designed and sent to the printer months ago when coffee was still being rationed.

Christmas cards

Christmas cards to soldiers overseas should be mailed at once, the War Department says. They must be sent in sealed envelopes as first class mail. Christmas cards mailed now will reach even the most remote APO's by December 25, according to the Army Postal Service.

Peanut butter

Reduction of consumer prices for peanut butter from 33.1 cents to about 26.5 cents per pound, effective November 1, was recently announced by WFA and OPA. The reduction is part of the wartime program to increase use of peanuts in making peanut butter and increase consumption of easily produced foods of high protein content.

No. 18

The public will be given 30 days' notice, should it become necessary to terminate shoe ration stamp 18. This announcement was made recently by OPA to "kill" scare-buying rumors that the validity period of stamp 18 might be cancelled with only 24 hours' notice to consumers.

Elastic

Restrictions on the use of elastic fabric in girdles, corsets, combinations, sanitary belts, garter belts, and brassieres have been lifted by WPB. However, it is believed no all-rubber garments will be on the market until the early part of 1944 and it will be some time after that before full-scale production will be possible.

Hosiery

Higher ceiling prices for some of the finer gauges of women's full fashioned rayon hosiery have been established by OPA. Prices for 54 and 57 gauge hose have been increased from $1.18 to $1.41 per pair. Sixty gauge and higher have been increased from $1.31 to $1.69.

October 22, 1943.

Dear Eleanor,
One finally reaches the saturation point in this 'business' of canning! I'm at the place where I don't care if I never see another tomato as long as I live. I suppose it isn't really as bad as all that, but almost!

We were so afraid the frost would 'get' the tomato and pepper plants one night last week we went out after dinner, turned the lights of the car on the garden, and literally pulled up every plant in sight. Quite an undertaking, when you consider that there were one hundred plants of tomatoes alone. We dragged and carried the bushes laden with partially ripened fruit to the basement and piled them in heaps. It is surprising to see how quickly they ripen under such circumstances, though we think they haven't as fine a flavor without the benefit of the sun's rays. Goodness knows, we can them nevertheless!

I'm so tired of washing and sterilizing jars and their miserable little tops, I could scream! And there's no letup in sight, for we have three long rows of carrots to dig out of the garden before there is a heavy frost. I suppose this attitude borders on hysteria when one considers the great need there is to conserve all available food.

And another thing... if one more person dares to ask me the silly question, "Don't you know there's a war on?" I'm going to jump right out of my skin! I'm fed up with merchants who use this excuse as the easiest and quickest way to alibi for their own carelessness and laziness.

Have you noticed that in the department stores particularly, many of the salespersons will not bother to look for anything put away in drawers? If what you want doesn't happen to be right on the counter under their noses, they merely tell you "we haven't got it." And if you dare, just DARE to suggest it might be hidden away somewhere, they take it as a personal affront to their integrity and immediately question your patriotism? Yes, someday, I'm going to tell them ALL the reasons why I know there's a war on!

Well, now that that's off my chest, how's every little thing at Shady Rest? It's been so long since I've seen all of you, I'm sure I'd never recognize Charlotte or J. D. Children of their ages seem to grow up almost overnight. It's difficult to believe that J. D. will be a year old in January. Won't you be glad when high over the bottle stage? Of course, every year in their growth presents its own problems. (I hate to discourage you about this, but I doubt if you'll find it easier when your four are older, for this very reason.) You think having four under six years of age is a full time job, and it certainly must be, but clinging, mothering a brood is a full time job ANY time, and at ALL ages... I know!

How is your dear Estelle? She never did come out here for a day this summer, and I did so want her. That reminds me, I wonder if she knows about that delightful French place to eat in the Park-Dearborn Hotel? Janice and Bill were there the other night for dinner, and they raved about the food. It seems the chef is French, his name is Carpentier. He's a superb cook, makes marvelous sauces, etc. They had Crepes Suzette for dessert, the like of which, Janice said could not be surpassed, unless it might be at Antoine's in New Orleans. I'm mentioning this place just in case the "girls" haven't been there, for I know what epicures they are!

Edward has asked me to thank you for his birthday greeting from your children. He looked at all his cards as they came with enthusiasm and many times during that day and since, he has picked them up again and again to remark about those who sent them. We spent a good portion of yesterday assembling a cardward puppet; a pony and its cowboy rider. It was one of his presents from Daddy, it afforded him a great deal of pleasure while we were indoors out of the rain.

George is in bed today with a slight cold. He doesn't mind being there, for he's able to read, and right now he's using Edward's new crayons. He called down to me a few minutes ago, suggesting I chocolate cake for lunch, so I think he'll live, don't you? He's been doing good work at school, and was as pleased as punch when he got 100 in spelling. The words were difficult, too. His teacher said the other day, "George has a fine mind. I'm certain of that, but he DOES love the social side of school!" Woe is mine!

Bob and Jack have been somewhat indisposed due to football activities. Jack has an injured finger, and Bob pulled a ligament in his leg. He was unable to play in the varsity game at school last Saturday, but he was resigned to that when our Lieutenant friend Paul took them to the Great Lakes-Northwestern game at Evanston. They sat on the fifty yard line among the Navy men, and from all accounts had a whale of a time.

Rob and I are reading Eve Currie's new book "Journey Among Warriors" and liking it immensely. It is apparent she has inherited some of the intelligence of her illustrious parents. I so loved a book I once read of the lives of her father and mother. What are you and Dave reading these days?

I had better stop now and prepare a lunch for the three of us. George is looking forward to a tray served in his room, with Edward as the nurse in attendance. Such attentions when we are forced to remain in bed are the only possible pleasure that can be derived from being inactive. Mary.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

THE day has passed when girls sit at home and wait for a marriageable man, according to Dorothy Canfield Fisher, novelist, educator, Book-of-the-Month Club editor, and one of the leading citizens of Vermont and points west. Nowadays, says Mrs. Fisher, girls emulate their brothers in acquiring and practicing the specialized skills needed by modern society.

In her new book, "Our Young Folks," Mrs. Fisher stresses the fact that all young people, regardless of sex, need to feel that they are part of the current of their times and that they are doing work which contributes to the society in which they live. The war has provided a great impetus in this direction. Mrs. Fisher wants us to make sure there will be no slump in the years that come after.

"Our Young Folks" grew out of the author's work done with the American Youth Commission, of which she has been an active member since the day it was organized. Her book, however, is no dry sociological study, but a friendly talking over of the situation by one American woman with her fellow citizens.

A respectable New York businessman named Moses Wolfert is meeting up with all sorts of shady characters, ever since the publication of a novel by his son, Ira Wolfert—"Tucker's People," about the policy racket. Recently a race track mogul came up to Mr. Wolfert, Sr., and asked him, in a very hush, hush voice: "Tell me, what's your son's real racket?" Ira's "racket," by the way, is being one of our best war correspondents and a winner of this year's Pulitzer award in journalism. He's the author of "Battle for the Solomons" and "Torpedo 8."

"Copper Camp," compiled by the Writers' Program of the Montana WPA, gives an exciting account of the boom mining days in Butte. Among the famous characters of the time were Senator Clark, a copper king who had earned his fortune the hard way, and his two playboys sons, Willie and Charlie, who were expert at spending that fortune. The story is told that once a hack driver drove the Senator up from the depot, in return for which he received a dime tip. Disappointed, the caddy complained, "Why, your sons always tip me a dollar." "Yes, I know," answered the Senator. "Willie and Charlie have a rich father—I haven't."

Ice follies open Saturday

Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson bring the eighth edition of their famed "Ice Follies" to the Chicago Arena—Friday night, November 5, for a limited engagement that will definitely terminate Saturday night, Nov. 20. The opening night is again being sponsored by the Service Club of Chicago. Performances of the spectacular revue will be staged nightly at 8:30 with four matinees at 2:30 scheduled on Sundays, Nov. 7 and 14, and Saturdays, Nov. 13 and 20.

A cast of 138, including 70 gorgeous "Ice Folliesettes," is featured in the 33 numbers. Such favorites as the Shipstads and Johnsons, Heinie Brock, Frank and Frack, Betty Atkinson, Ruby Maxson, Osborne Colson and Fran Claudet, Papez and Zwack, Bobby Blake, the Vanity Fair Trio, Norah McCarthy, Jeanne Sook, Phyllis Legg and Helen Brad are back. Sensational newcomers have been uncovered in Hazel Franklin of Englewood, handsome Michael Kirby of Nova Scotia and the Miltons. It took 50 seamstresses, milliners and headiers five months to make the 700 beautiful costumes used in the revue. Production numbers, including the "18th Century Garden," "Derby Day," "Reflections on the Water," "Oriental Fantasy," "Tahiti" and the grand finale "Crazy Quilt Circus," top anything the Messrs. Shipstads and Johnsons have ever attempted. Innovations in special lighting effects are another feature of "Ice Follies of 1944."

Tickets can be purchased at the Arena, McClurg Court between Erie and Ontario Streets, or the Hub, State and Jackson.

It Happened Here

When we were very young we had a paint box, a paint box whose colors had such delectable names as cobalt blue, burnt sienna, Van Dyke brown, yellow ochre, rose madder gamboge, crimson lake, umber and others, fascinating to read and to memorize; thereafter, our childish world was colored, not with those pigments, but with the magic of those words; in the garden, touched with frost, under the ash tree, along the osage hedge and the line of the distant woods, those words sprang to life and cast the need of expression; to say that the hedge had turned a lovely ochre was to recreate it for us; it is one of the major miracles when a child becomes articulate about his feelings for the marvels of his world — has found a word that opens a door. So, now as October mellowed into November, it is pleasant to note those magic words from the paint box springing into life; a hint of crimson lake in the last leaf on the apple tree, rose madder on the vine, a smear of gamboge there, a daub of Van Dyke brown here, a tree dipped in yellow ochre, another in burnt sienna and still a third in that blend of blue and yellow, resulting in a bronze gold which the mulberry tree wears at this season; underneath the tree is a ragged and faded fur of gorgeous hues discarded by Haroun Al-Raschid when we first read The Arabian Nights.

Marines Use Mahogany

Mahogany may be expensive in the United States but on Guadalcanal it has been put to many uses. Because of its hardness on an island where hardwood is scarce, marine corps engineers are using mahogany for bridges, telephone poles and other construction jobs.

Cow Needs Maximum Intake
Ideally the cow is stimulated to her best production by a feed intake that reaches the maximum of her capacity. If the quality of feed offered is below par she is likely to eat less of it and consequently produce less.

Wealth of Sea Untouched
The great reservoir of chemicals and metals in sea water has remained practically untouched by man until recent years. The one exception is salt to season food, which has been evaporated from sea water since remote times. For little more than a century, iodine has been taken from the oceans indirectly by burning seaweed which had absorbed the chemical.

Kernats leads Bison mates in win over Barrington 20-0

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

We are still picking Libertyville to win the Northeast championship just as we did in early September. Friday the Wildcats have their final and toughest opponent to beat in the big Niles eleven which likewise has not been beaten though tied by Warren. We saw Niles run wild over Lake Forest Friday but they did it in a way that we doubt is possible against Libertyville and that is by end runs. Libertyville has, according to all reports, the best three ends in the league in Schaffer, Kruckman, and Kristan. A friend of ours who watched Libertyville play Crystal Lake with an eye open for all conference material was pretty much sold on the Wildcat ends, center Carlton, and backfield men Luce and Erickson. It ought to be a great game Friday at Libertyville and we would like to be there. A funny season locally

And the person who said that the Northwest season just didn't make sense is right when one considers these three scores: Palatine 6, Bensenville 0, Barrington 25, Palatine 0, and Bensenville 20, Barrington 0. These games were played on consecutive week-ends. The part that does make sense is Northbrook winning the championship for the Vikings had the best balanced team and the Northbrook boys played consistent ball with a little better performance in each game as they went along. Palatine and Barrington potentially were as good as any in the league but the boys as a team were not in shape to put out their best except on two week-ends of the season.

Kernats and Brown lead scorers

According to our tabulations George Kernats of Bensenville and Jack Brown of Northbrook tied for the conference scoring leadership with eight touchdowns apiece for 48 points. Kernats was the top ground gainer of the league by a wide margin. This pair of course cannot be kept off the all-conference team which we will publish next week. Letters are coming in from the coaches with their nominations and the result of these tabulations and our own observations in watching all the teams play should give us a pretty good line on the talent of the conference. We plan to publish the Northeast all-star team in the issue of November 19.

Antioch back has long runs

Smith of Antioch lays claim to the longest runs of the season in the Northwest conference. He ran 90 for a touchdown against Northbrook and 82 to score against Palatine.

Ela seeks cage game

Coach Wesner of Ela at Lake Zurich is looking for a home basketball game for Friday, November 12. He will enter into a two year contract for a return game in 1944 or play a return later in the season.

Four titles in five years

Since the Northwest Conference reorganized five years ago Northbrook has had three undisputed football championships and has tied for a fourth. Last season the Vikings were last but came back with pretty much the same team to sweep their schedule. Bill Lutz, a former Lake Forest athlete, coaches Northbrook. Their other three titles were won under the direction of Mackey who is now junior varsity coach at Niles.

Douglas looks best at tackle

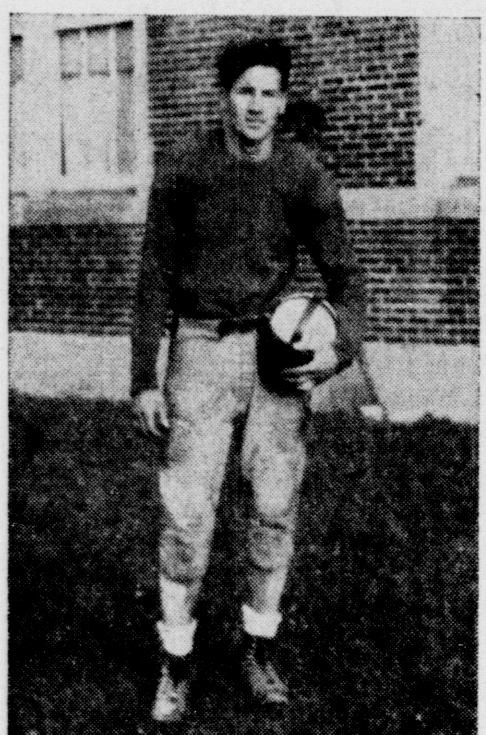

Bob Douglas of Palatine looked like the hard runner that he was in 1942 as he picked up 144 yards in 25 ball carrying attempts against Antioch last Saturday. It is at defensive tackle that the 185 pound Pirate has been of most service to Palatine this past season, however. Only five of Coach Stutzman's Pirate eleven graduate this year. Vogt and Herr, ends; Goodwin, center; Bock, guard; and Ottendorf, quarterback; are the

Bensenville star scores 3 touchdowns

Playing their best game of the season Bensenville handed Barrington a decisive 20-0 beating in the final game of the season last Saturday. The victory gave the Bisons a tie with Grant for second place in the final conference standings, and closed a highly successful season. Bensenville defeated Immaculate Conception 12-7, Antioch 14-7, Grant 19-0, and Barrington 20-0. The Bisons lost only to Northbrook 27-21 and to Palatine 6-0.

Saturday was really George Kernats day at Bensenville. The little Bison halfback scored all three touchdowns and gained a total of 250 yards to finish his high school grid career with a peak performance.

Bensenville's first touchdown scored in the opening quarter was a Kernats specialty. Barrington was punted to the Bison 20 yard line where Kernats took the ball and scampered through a broken field 80 yards for a touchdown. In the second quarter Bensenville marched down the field using power plays through the line and from the three yard line Kernats ran around right end to score. A pass from Benham to Holmstrom was good for the extra point giving Bensenville a half time lead of 13-0. In the third quarter Kernats ran around right end to score from Barrington's 30 yard line and Brecklin converted on a plunge.

Bensenville's only threat of the game was a drive to Bensenville's four yard line made possible by their only completed pass of the game. The Bisons were penalized half the distance to the goal making it third down on the Bison two yard stripe but Barrington failed to crack the Bensenville line for a touchdown and the Bisons kicked out of danger.

Bensenville's big line which was so green in the early games has developed into a formidable forward wall which had only two touchdowns scored against it in the last four games.

Pirates open basketball practice

'Mac' starts from scratch

Palatine opened basketball practice Monday with about 40 boys reporting for two squads. The Pirates do not have much time to get in shape for their non-conference opener at Wauconda a week from Friday night especially considering the lack of experienced material that is available.

Coach McElroy of the varsity team has none of his first six players of 1942 returning. Harris, Stinson, Cramer, Hayes, Kune and Howes graduated. Remaining are Melvin Vogt, 5 ft. 10; Clarence Herr, 6 ft.; and Harvey Ottendorf 5 ft. 8; who got into enough varsity games to win letters, but saw more service with the lightweights. These three along with three lightweight letter winners will be the nucleus of this year's team. Vogt plays forward. Herr forward center, and Ottendorf is a guard. Bob Douglas, 5 ft. 8 in. guard; Clarence Vogt, 5 ft. 11 in. forward; and Arnold Linneman, 6 ft. 1 in. forward, are lightweight lettermen moving up to the varsity. Willard Boward and Joe Jost who stand well over six feet, are juniors without previous experience except intramural who are being given a varsity trial in an effort to add height to the team. Meyers, a 5 ft. 10 senior is another with only intramural experience.

The lightweight squad coached by J. E. Stutzman is a pretty uncertain quantity just now as the boys are short on experience. Probably the team will be made up largely of sophomores. Boys from among whom the lightweight team may develop are Milton Hanke, Roger Smith, Ray Howes, Albert Toppel, Willard Gates, John Rose, Lynn Thompson, Bob Birks, Albert Hammer, Melville Cook, Charles Hestrup, Don Winn, and a number of others.

Blocked kick gives Leyden win over Cards

by JOE SMART

Leyden took advantage of a blocked kick in the third quarter, and scored in three plays to take the lead after the Cards had knotted the score in the second period. They went on to score again in the fourth quarter and the Cards lost 21-7.

Although four touchdowns were made both teams had numerous other scoring chances only to fumble or fail to catch passes.

Early in the first quarter Leyden began a march towards the Cards goal. After Friske had returned Kohler's boot to the Cards 38, Thomas fired a pass to Jagade for eleven yards and a first down on the Cards 27. Jagade cracked off tackle for eight in two tries and Friske got another first down on the Cards 14 with a five yard trip around end. Thomas pass was incomplete, but the Cards were off-side on the next play, followed by time in the first quarter and all the second their chance coming when McDonald returned Jagade's punt 8 yards to the Eagles 42. Page snared Kohlers pass amidst three Leyden backs and was downed on the 25. McDonald picked up four yards on a reverse, but Robinsons pass to Weber was incomplete. However, on the next play Robinson pitched to Page on the five where he was hit, but he spun out and crossed the goal line standing up. Bokenman's kick split the uprights.

The Cards fatal moment came early in the third quarter when McDonald broke through and blocked Kohlers kick from the 24. Sorenson recovering on the six. Jagade and Friske made two apiece through the line and the former crashed over guard on the next play for the fourth touchdown. Thomas again kicked the point and Leyden led 14-7.

Midway in the final period Leyden began a march from their own 44 yard line. Jagade, Thomas and Jones toted the ball to the 13 yard line, and Jagade went over from the one yard line after his pass to McDonald had set up the play.

The Cards opened up on passes from there on, but they were kept well in check by an alert Leyden defense.

Jagade lived up to his reputation by chalking up 72 yards in eighteen tries for a neat four yard average per try. His defense also was very good. Other top players were Jones, Friske and Thomas in the backfield and McDonald and Schierhorn in the line.

The Cards' best performers were Stroker and Page in the line and McDonald in the backfield.

Arlington vs. Woodstock in homecoming Sat.

by JOE SMART

This Saturday the Cards play their annual homecoming game. Like last year the Cards take on Woodstock, whom they have already beaten this season 26-0.

Last year the Cards whipped the Streaks on homecoming day 17-13. Joe Moriel, better known then as "Automatic" scored a touchdown, kicked two extra points, and booted a 28 yard field goal, bringing to a close a good season for a great athlete.

The "Streaks" will be trying to avenge their previous beating and the game is expected to be fought hard.

Friday night the "snake dance" will be held after the bonfire, and Saturday night the "homecoming dance, sponsored by the "A" club, shall take place in the cafeteria.

Seniors playing their last game for dear old Arlington are as follows:

Dick Bokelman, "Luf."
W. Williams, "Breezy."
Bill Griffith, "Dimer."
A. Williams, "Breezy."
Bob Kohler, "Crowbeak."
Bob Nelson, "Byron."
Jim Hayden, "Whistle."
Lee Gosh, "Whiskers."
Bruce Kempf, "Shorty."
Dick Massey, "Bruiser."
Bob McArdle, "Butcher."
George Gaare, "Gar."

Moving pictures of the Arlington Heights homecoming tilt this Saturday against Woodstock will be shown at the Arlington Theatre next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The motion pictures are a Dad's club promotion.

Palatine ends season with 20-6 victory over Antioch

Pirate eleven scores in last three quarters

Palatine displayed a lot of good blocking and hard running to whip Antioch 20-6 in the final game of the season played before a small turnout last Saturday. The Pirates had little trouble gaining around Antioch's ends with Douglas and Smith totting the pigskin while Moody picked up plenty of yardage through the middle of the line. Palatine scored in each of the last three quarters.

Antioch scored in the last quarter when Smith broke through Palatine's right tackle and outran the Pirate team to travel 82 yards for a touchdown. Except for this long run and a couple of first downs in a row at the start of the game, Antioch was held pretty well in check by the Pirates.

Palatine scored at the start of the second quarter on seven plays in a march of 54 yards. Douglas, who had runs of 11, 12, and 20 yards in the drive, scored the touchdown and converted. At the start of the second half Ottendorf returned the kickoff to midfield for the Pirates and in seven plays they had a touchdown with Moody scoring and Douglas converting. Douglas had runs of 13 and 19 yards in this march.

Palatine had two touchdowns called back on penalties in the fourth quarter. Palatine marched from their own 20 to the Antioch five but lost the ball on downs. They then recovered an Antioch fumble on the 14, but again lost the ball on downs. Moody scored a touchdown that did not count due to backfield in motion and Vogt catching a pass in the end zone with a similar penalty calling it back. Soon after Smith of the Sequoits made his amazing 82 yard run.

With 30 seconds to play Herr recovered an Antioch fumble on their 20 yard line and with the team running plays as rapidly as possible Douglas ran to the six yard line, Smith went to the two and Douglas scored as the whistle ended the game.

Features of the game were the blocking of Smith, Ottendorf and Moody on end runs, Douglas' powerful running, Smith's fine ball carrying, and the alert defensive play of Herr, Vogt, and Ottendorf. For Antioch Smith's long run and the exceptional punting of Klass were the stand out performances. Klass averaged 42 yards on his kicks.

Palatine harriers in first win

Palatine won their first cross country victory in five meets at Niles Friday by a score of 24-31. Johnston of Niles who has been undefeated in cross country for two years again took first place and was timed at 7:30 for the mile and three quarters. Clarence Vogt of Palatine was second, Meinke of Niles was third, and the next four places were taken by the Palatine boys, Arnold Linneman, Art Hafferkamp, Bob Holzman, and Milton Hapke. Schroeder, Miller, and Dababo got positions 8, 9, and 10 for the Niles Trojans. The meet was run between halves of the Niles-Lake Forest football game won by Niles 33-12.

Palatine lost twice to Leyden and once each to Maine and Evans-ton. Letters are awarded at Palatine to boys who average finishing 10th or better for the season. The averages of the Palatine boys are as follows: Vogt 2.8, Hapke 7.0, Hafferkamp 9.2, Hapke 9.8, Holzman 11.4, Fillion 16.4. Four major and one minor letter will be awarded.

It's Trail's End for the Arlington varsity eleven Saturday on the Heights gridiron. A football season that began with Woodstock will end with Woodstock, and it's well to remember that the season began with a 26 to 0 defeat of the Streaks. It's hardly likely that the Cards can exert that superiority over Woodstock this time. Arlington undoubtedly is stronger than when it shut out the Streaks in the season inaugural, but they caught Woodstock short on practice at that time. The invading squad from the north comes looking for revenge, and has improved to a point where the Cardinals are going to be hard-pressed to prevent them from getting just that.

THE SPOTLIGHT made some pointed remarks last week on the weak-kneed effort of the Arlington eleven against Niles. It was, by all odds, the sorriest showing of the year.

But now, here's a bit of congratulation to the boys on their stand against Leyden. Sure—they lost. But it was an improvement of 100 per cent on the Niles showing. Mr. Jagade ran on them to the extent of 72 yards in 18 ball-carrying efforts. He scored all three Leyden touchdowns and averaged four yards each time he packed the ball. But he ended up with a lot of respect for the Card tackling.

And don't forget this—Jagade will run on most any high school team. He's an outstanding prep back.

So all in all, the transformation from the Niles debacle to the Leyden defeat was a most encouraging one to close followers of the team. But there will have to be continued improvement of the season is to end, against Woodstock, as it began—IN VICTORY!

CARD OF THE WEEK — It's tough to make a selection this week. There were a number of fine performances as Arlington went down fighting before Leyden, 21-7. In the line, there was Allen Stroker with a smashing game at tackle; steady-going Dick Bokelman at the other tackle. And in the backfield, Bob Nelson came up with the kind of game that has made him a sort of "unofficial" Card of the week on each and every week . . . then there was Pat McDonald and Jim Robinson, the latter doing a Sammy Baugh in the Card backfield. And let's not overlook Bruce Kempf.

But in the final accounting, we're giving this week's citation to the hard-working Arlington left end—CHUCK PAGE.

The Cards had gone through the Lake Forest and Niles games without scoring. The point famine was beginning to get serious. It was the second quarter of the Leyden game when the Arlington eleven struck for its only touchdown in the last three games (although they've wasted innumerable scoring opportunities). Chuck made two fine catches of passes to bring about that touchdown — the first a "steal" from three Leyden backs . . . the second the scoring toss from Jim Robinson, and only some hard-driving right at the goal line carried Chuck across.

In addition, Chuck showed several nice flashes of defensive end play, and his whole afternoon's work against Leyden adds up to well-deserved recognition as

THE CARD OF THE WEEK! AROUND AND ABOUT — Jim Holtz isn't an All-Conference football player and the fact of the matter is, he'd gladly settle for a regular place on the Arlington team . . . But his patient plodding throughout the season should make some of his classmates a bit ashamed . . . Maybe you aren't aware of it, Jim, but you don't have to be a regular to learn the lessons that football teaches . . . And don't think that your conscientious efforts have been unnoticed by your coaches . . .

Is it true that some of the Varsity Cards already are giving themselves a mean fever-blister over the fact that Woodstock beat Crystal Lake? Seems that some of the boys interpret that as meaning that they're going to close out the season in defeat before a team they licked by twenty-six points only six weeks ago . . .

We trust that Bob McArdle is all set now to bear down and play the football of which he is capable in the season finale, and then carry on through a successful basketball season. You have the ability, Bob—just develop a bit more confidence in your coach and your teammates, and above all remember the old, old saying: ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS!

Wonder how many of the Cards have ever seen a real good football team tackle. The good ones don't leave anything to chance. As long as a ball carrier is on his feet, that ball carrier is up there to be hit! He's not going to fall down unless he's knocked down—and don't wait for someone else to do it . . . DO IT YOURSELF!

Understand Coach Seidler delivered a long-needed talk to some of his gym classes on getting behind the school athletic program. While 135-pounders carry on in the colors of the Cardinal, some 160 and 170 pounders loiter about, their only answer to the query: "Why don't you come out for the team?" being a lame: "I don't think I'd have much of a chance." One thing you can be sure: Every boy will get a complete and impartial trial under Seidler, and will stand or fall on his own merits. What's more, he'll learn things that will make him a better athlete. So it's up to you, fellows!

Northbrook wins NW title; beats Grant Friday, 27-0

Northbrook won an undisputed Northwest Conference football championship by finishing the season with a 27-0 victory before a big crowd at Grant Friday night. The Bulldogs held Northbrook to one touchdown for a 6-0 score at the half but the visiting Vikings broke loose for 21 points in the last half. Northbrook's touchdowns were scored by J. Brown, D. Brown, and Schneider who got two. Rossett made the lone conversion. The Vikings piled up 18 first downs to Grant's four, depending mainly upon running plays. Taustian at quarterback and Armitage at guard played best for the losers.

Northbrook's conference record was five straight victories defeating Bensenville 27-21, Barrington 19-6, Palatine 15-6, Antioch 38-6, and Grant 27-0. Next Friday night Northbrook travels to McHenry to meet Coach McCracken's undefeated team in a final non-conference game. Jack Brown of Northbrook topped the league scorers table with 48 points in the five games.
